2 As used in this Act (including the amendments made

5 given those terms by section 3 of the Freedom for Russia
6 and Emerging Eurasian Democracies and Open Markets
7 Support Act of 1992 (22 U.S.C. 5801).

8 TITLE I—POLICY OF
9 FRIENDSHIP AND COOPERATION

10 SEC. 101. FINDINGS.

11 The Congress finds and declares as follows:

12 (1) The Vancouver Declaration issued by Presi-
13 dent Clinton and President Yeltsin in April 1993
14 marked a new milestone in the development of the 15 spirit of cooperation and partnership between the 16 United States and Russia. The Congress affirms its 17 support for the principles contained in the Van-
18 couver Declaration.

19 (2) The Vancouver Declaration underscored
20 that—

21 (A) a dynamic and effective partnership
22 between the United States and Russia is vital

1 to the success of Russia's historic trans-
2 formation;

3 (B) the rapid integration of Russia into 4 the community of democratic nations and the 5 world economy is important to the national in-
6 terest of the United States; and

7 (C) cooperation between the United States
8 and Russia is essential to the peaceful resolu-
9 tion of international conflicts and the promotion
10 of democratic values, the protection of human 11 rights, and the solution of global problems such 12 as environmental pollution, terrorism, and nar-
13 cotics trafficking.

14 (3) The Congress enacted the FREEDOM Sup-
15 port Act (Public Law 102-511), as well as other leg-
16 islation such as the Soviet Nuclear Threat Reduction 17 Act of 1991 (title II of Public Law 102-228) and 18 the Former Soviet Union Demilitarization Act of 19 1992 (title XIV of Public Law 102-484), to help
20 meet the historic opportunities and challenges pre-
21 sented by the transformation that has taken place,
22 and is continuing to take place, in what once was 23 the Soviet Union.

24 (4) The process of reform in Russia, Ukraine,
25 and the other independent states of the former So-

1 viet Union is ongoing. The holding of a referendum
2 in Russia on April 25, 1993, that was free and fair,
3 and that reflected the support of the Russian people
4 for the process of continued and strengthened demo-
5 cratic and economic reform, represents an important
6 and encouraging hallmark in this ongoing process.

7 (5) It is important that reformers and demo-
8 crats in the independent states of the former Soviet 9 Union recognize the resolve of the people of the 10 United States to do business with the independent
11 states in a new spirit of friendship and cooperation,
12 and the support of the people of the United States
13 for continued democratic and economic reform.

14 (6) Certain statutory provisions that are relics
15 of the Cold War should be revised or repealed as 16 part of United States efforts to foster and strength-
17 en the bonds of trust and friendship, as well as mu-
18 tually beneficial trade and economic relations, be-19 tween the United States and Russia, the United 20 States and Ukraine, and the United States and the 21 other independent states of the former Soviet Union.

22 SEC. 102. STATUTORY PROVISIONS THAT HAVE BEEN AP-
23 PLICABLE TO THE SOVIET UNION.

24 (a) IN GENERAL.—There are numerous statutory 25 provisions that were enacted in the context of United

1 States relations with a country, the Soviet Union, that are 2 fundamentally different from the relations that now exist
3 between the United States and Russia, between the United 4 States and Ukraine, and between the United States and 5 the other independent states of the former Soviet Union.

6 (b) EXTENT OF SUCH PROVISIONS.—Many of the 7 provisions referred to in subsection (a) imposed limitations
8 specifically with respect to the Soviet Union, and its con-
9 stituent republics, or utilized language that reflected the 10 tension that existed between the United States and the 11 Soviet Union at the time of their enactment. Other such 12 provisions did not refer specifically to the Soviet Union, 13 but nonetheless were directed (or may be construed as 14 having been directed) against the Soviet Union on the 15 basis of the relations that formerly existed between the 16 United States and the Soviet Union, particularly in its role
17 as the leading Communist country.

18 (c) FINDING AND AFFIRMATION.—The Congress
19 finds and affirms that provisions such as those described 20 in this section, including the joint resolution providing for 21 the designation of “Captive Nations Week” (Public Law 22 86–90), should not be construed as being directed against 23 Russia, Ukraine, or the other independent states of the 24 former Soviet Union, connoting an adversarial relationship 25 between the United States and the independent states, or

1 signifying or implying in any manner unfriendliness to-
2 ward the independent states.

3 TITLE II—TRADE AND BUSINESS 4 RELATIONS

13 sile Defense Program may not be transferred (or made 14 available for transfer) to Russia or any other independent 15 state of the former Soviet Union by the United States (or 16 with the consent of the United States) unless the Presi-
17 dent determines, and certifies to the Congress at least 15
18 days prior to any such transfer, that such transfer is in 19 the national interest of the United States and is to be 20 made for the purpose of maintaining peace.”.
